

WOW DAY

WEAR ORANGE WEDNESDAY TO SUPPORT SES VOLUNTEERS

MAY 10TH

GET YOUR FRIENDS AND FAMILY INVOLVED AND WEAR ORANGE!

Wear Orange Wednesday 10 May 2017 – get your friends and family involved!

The purpose of the WOW Day campaign is to inspire people to wear orange on 10 May in recognition of the efforts of thousands of SES volunteers across Australia who give up their time to serve their communities in floods, storms and other emergencies.

WOW Day will be recognised nationally on 10 May this year with the simple call to action: wear orange. Orange is the official colour of State Emergency Services across the country so wearing orange on WOW Day is a great way to show support for all SES volunteers.

Here are some tips on how you can get your workplace to go orange for WOW Day on 10 May:

Give your manager/colleagues/social club a pack of WOW Day resources including the WOW Day at Work fact sheet and WOW Day poster

See if you can wear your SES 'oranges' to work and get others in the workplace to wear something orange

Organise a WOW Day morning tea

Host a lunchtime information session providing people in your workplace an opportunity to find out more about the SES

See if you can send an email to work colleagues promoting www.wearorangewednesday.com.au

Get your family and friends involved

Share WOW Day on social media, choose your WOW Day icon for your Facebook profile and get your friends to do the same
