

Ready to Go?

Sometimes the weather can be so severe that you might be stuck at home with no power, water, or gas for several days, or you might need to leave your home quickly to stay safe. You could stay with family, friends, or in some cases, go to an emergency relief centre.

That's why it's super important to Be Storm Smart and have an emergency kit ready and packed with everything you might need if you must leave in a hurry.

What are the five most important things you would pack in your emergency kit?

Colour or circle the items below you think you would want to have with you in an emergency!
